“ My condolences to the family. Leon was a neighbor for many years when we lived on E. Corriher Avenue. I remember that Leon sat on my right side in a Catawba College summer session American History class so many years ago! I suspect he was a better student than I in that class. Leon and his extended family are prime examples of tolerance and heartfelt "care" for all people, a trait to remember in these turbulent days.

“ Uncle Leon, I have never met a man as nice and polite as you. You and Uncle Billy are the greatest examples of how to treat others. I am blessed that God allowed me to be part of your family and business. I'd drive to Manhattan again in a station wagon and a Uhaul if you would of asked. I know you are in a better place As you shook the creators of the worlds hand with a smile on your face!

“ I remember meeting Leon when I was Three years old, I was sitting at the counter at Innes Street Drug Store and he came up and sat down and talked to me. It's one of my first memories of having a conversation with a grownup who wasn't a family member. He gave me my dog Mac, which we had till I was in my late teens. My love of shirtwaist dresses comes directly from the ones he gave me when I was seven, I had several in different colors, they were my favorites. Like so many others Leon gave me one of my first jobs, it was great I got to work with the wonderful Sue Ramsey helping her dress the store windows and put up displays in the Salisbury and Lexington stores. My husband worked for him and Ed Hobson making patterns for their clothes back in the early 1980s we had two young children and the extra money was a blessing. Also when I moved back to Salisbury for several years in 1999 he called up and offered me a job, I was pretty sure he didn't really need the help, I found a job soon after, but the gesture was one of pure kindness. He also looked after my brother David, which is why he will always have a place in my heart. God bless Phyllis, Laura And Lee, I hope I didn't misspell your name, and the rest of the family.

“ As children growing up in Salisbury, the only place to buy our clothes was Zimmerman's. We shopped with our Mother and upon entering the front door who would come running up to greet us but Sonny. Always smiling, always so very friendly- it's no wonder his business was so popular and so successful for so many years. Our Mom and Dad thought the world of Sonny and when Mom passed in 1977, Sonny honored us by being a pall bearer. A good man who lived a good life and touched so many. Rest in Peace. “ Leon Zimmerman was a father figure to me. He showed infinite patience with my shortcomings on many occasions. He was always a gracious host and one of the more beautiful human beings I have ever known. I thought of him often. When I was in Florence, Italy in 1989, I thought of him being there when he was a young man. When he attended my wedding, I started to "well up" when I spotted he and Phyllis in the pew at Rollins College Chapel. They sat with my wife's grandfather, John LaConde, at the wedding reception.

It pains me that logistics because of the COVID-19 pandemic will prevent me from attending the funeral service. I will have to visit his burial site and pay my respects at a some future date. I will be thinking of him and the family and extended family members on Monday. The fact that he will be missed will always remain an understatement to me.

I thank Sam for inviting me to a Zoom online gathering on Friday. It was great to see Sam, Phyllis, Suzie and Jeff.

I fell it has been an honor and a privilege to be a part of the extended family albeit a long distance one. I will keep that family in my thoughts over the coming days and months to follow. Godspeed, Leon. I love you.

“ Mr. Z was one of the loveliest humans I have known. He never failed to meet you with a smile and a genuine interest in what was going on in your life. Growing up with Lee, I enjoyed many family dinners and conversations with Mr. Z that will hold a special place in my heart forever. His positivity and cheerful spirit carries on in his daughter and my dear friend Lee, and her sister Laura.
