“ Jack always brought his dog with him to church, even though it would have been easier to leave the dog at home. It was obvious that there was a special bond between them. Jack always asked for prayer for his family, but rarely asked for prayer for himself. He was concerned about the church and had several good ideas of things that could be done or changed at the church. He had a beautiful servant's spirit, and his quiet presence will be missed at Rowan Christian Assembly. It is such a comfort to know that we will meet again soon in a place where there will be no more separation or death!

I thank God that I had the opportunity to meet Jack here, and that we will meet again in heaven!
