“ Jane Smith was my second grade teacher at Frank B. John school in Salisbury around 1946. This was my first year in public schools, having attended the first grade at First Presbyterian. My recollection was that she was a wonderful teacher! She introduced our class to classical music on an OLD floor model Victrola, one which required winding with a handle on the side. The first classical number we studied and heard was "Flight Of The Bumblebee".

Jane Smith had a positive impact and influence on my life, which continues today! I am thankful for her dedication in touching young lives. May her tribe increase!

My wife and I send our deepest sympathy to her family.
