“ Kenny was such a great great man and I had many many years of doing business with him. He taught me a lot of things about life. The one most important thing that he would do was.... He would be in a restaurant and he would just pay for another person or another couples meal. He may know them or he may not know them. If they looked like them could use a helping hand he would buy their meal and never let them know who did it... He was a good good man..... I will miss him and his jokes. He loved life. He and I went on diets more times than I can count...he would tell me his secrets of how he lost his weight and I would tell him mine and before you know it we had put it all back on and we were right back to the same drawing board. I also use to serve him fish when I owned Wink's S and W Fishcamp . By the way....Kenny, You died the same day my Dad did. June 18.....Rest In Peace My Friend
May God keep His hand on Cathy and their family.

“ I never meet Kenny but reading some of the great things mentioned here says a lot about a person. I do know Kenny's wife Cathy. We work together and by far she is one of the most spirited, friendly and loving person I've ever worked with. We love you Cathy and express our deepest sympathies to you and your family.

“ HEY!!! I will always remember when we were loading trailers at Food Lion you would yell hey at the over the road truck drivers walking across the dock. They would turn around to look, but you kept loading your trailer without looking at them. What a laugh I got out of that. You and your sense of humor will be sorely missed.

“ I have had the distinct honor of knowing Kenny for many years as a downtown business owner, masonic brother, hiking enthusiast and "comic genius". Kenny is a "man's man". I will always cherish our friendship and adventures hiking on the Appalachian Trail; sleeping in a snow covered tent on a mountain top while Kenny snored to the tune of "Popeye the Sailor Man". Kenny is an excellent human being. Love to his family.

Till we meet again ... Rest In Peace.
