We're confident you will take comfort in the knowledge that she has left a wonderful and lasting legacy for your family and all those many students she inspired as an educator. “ Oh so many memories of such a sweet teacher/friend and lady. I always tell people that I wanted to be a female basketball player but instead you discovered that I was good at shorthand. Thus -- city, state and national contests where I met Mrs. Pat Nixon and Colonel Sanders. The only problem was that my high school didn't have IBM typewriters for transcription nationally. I still placed however. I will truly miss your correspondence (especially those beautiful Christmas Cards of which I still have a couple). May you rest in peach beautiful lady and know that you are truly loved by your family and even some former students.
