

Mrs. Nancy Jo Miller Holler

October 13, 1931 - August 28, 2016

Nancy Jo Miller Holler, 84, of Salisbury passed away August 28, 2016 at Alston Brook Nursing Center in Lexington.

Born October 13, 1931 in Salisbury she was a daughter of the late Paul Wilburn Miller and Marion McCraw Miller.

She attended the Art Institute of Virginia and was a self-employed commercial artist and homemaker. She did art and design work for Granite Knitwear, Belk, and Oestreicher. During the war she was employed with the Navy Map Company in Washington DC.

Jo lived and raised her family in Salisbury. She also lived in Black Mountain for several years.

She loved nature and animals which was reflected in her art.

She was preceded in death by her husband Dr. Moffitt Kell Holler.

We are very grateful for the wonderful care she was given by the nurses and staff at Alston Brook, Lexington where she lived for over ten years.

A graveside service will be conducted at 3:00 PM Thursday, September 1, 2016 at City Memorial Park. Rev. Richard Myers, Pastor of Shiloh Reformed Church of Faith.

The family request prayers in lieu of flowers.

Summersett funeral home is serving the Holler family. Online condolences may be made

“ My name is Steve Woosley and mom shared a room with Jo before mom passed and sitting with her on the weekends gave me a chance to enjoy Jo's lovely art. Mom would tell me on every visit to look at how beautiful her pictures were. It was a highlight that mom and I both enjoyed.

What a wonderful lady she was. Prayers for your family!!
