“ Bob was a gentleman in every sense. He was kind-hearted, friendly, warm, and generous of spirit. Jerry and I have been reminiscing about some fun times -- like our trip to NYC, where we took in a very surprising show in the Village and ate jellyfish in Chinatown. When Sharon was preparing for us to meet Bob for the first time, she warned us that Bob was not adventurous - for example, I was NOT to prepare any food with green peppers! Actually, we found Bob to have a very open mind and a ready laugh! This is a tremendous loss for family, friends and community.
