“ About 8 years ago, Sarah's cat died. She was so upset and said she never wanted another cat again. Susan Sides and I bought her another kitten, and it was love at first sight. She was so happy, and every time I saw her since she always reminded me "how naughty" her cat was with a huge smile on her face. Sarah was one of those people who could only find good things to say about any person or any event. She will be missed in this community.
