Sorry to hear of Willies passing we sure did enjoy having Willie as a customer over the years he was a true friend .You could be having a bad day and after his visit you always had a smile when he left and in a better mood not many people in this world have that ability to do that between his joking and junk talking he would make sure he got a laugh out of you for the day .I loved to run into him in a store and get him wound up on something and hear that big voice eco he was one of a kind that's for sure .
